Foreword

The Senior Class owes the inspiration for the theme of this issue of the Aurora to those illustrious pioneers who, seventy-five years ago, founded this institution. It is published in the hope that it may add something to the honor which is rightfully theirs.

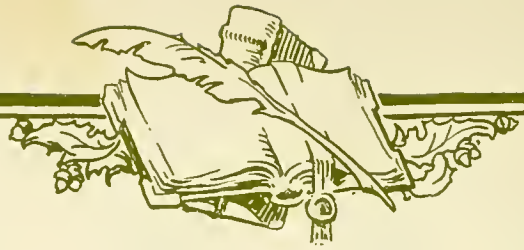
PROFESSOR CARL E. PRAY



PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is altogether fitting that this 1928 AURORA should commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the opening of the college. It has been said that not to know history is always to be a child. The only way we can appreciate the institutions of today is by becoming acquainted with their origins and development. It requires an historic imagination to picture the educational situation in Michigan seventy-five years ago. Our now great university consisted of but two departments—medical and literary—and the total enrollment was 222 and the faculty numbered fourteen. This budding university was the only institution in the state of collegiate rank, for the denominational colleges at this time were no more than respectable academies. The public schools of Detroit were but ten years old and no high schools existed in the state. The establishment of the Normal College was a great event. Only three states had established such institutions and the total number in existence in America was five. No wonder the dedicatory exercises were a matter of great concern and that men of state and national reputation appeared on the program. There was a prophecy in the first stanza of the poem written for the occasion by D Bethune Duffield:

Hail, spirit of immortal Truth,
Bright emanation from on high,
Now out o'er nation's glowing youth,
Extend thy wings of purity—
To thy great purpose now we raise
These noble walls, this song of praise.

The college was dedicated to the Immortal Truth. Its business during these seventy-five years has been to spread a knowledge of the truth, the truth of nature, and the truth of human nature, and of social living and co-operation. These seventy-five years have been notable ones and we should look back upon them with gratitude and with admiration, and the retrospect should help us to turn our gaze to the future with confidence and high purpose.

In Memoriam

Dimon H. Roberts, 1866-1928

Dimon H. Roberts was born November 1, 1866, and died April 10, 1928. For twenty-eight years he was head of the Training School of the Michigan State Normal College.

The educational career of Professor Roberts was long and distinguished, and our institution suffers a very great loss in his departure from us. He did his work quietly, effectively, earnestly, and a host of teachers, students and little children mourn his death. He loved the Training School to which he had given such a long part of his life, and in return teachers and pupils repaid him with unfailing devotion. He was able to fasten friends to himself with bands of steel. He had a deep appreciation of the finer things of life. Music, art, books, appealed to him and were reflected in his life.

Professor Roberts loved the State Normal College and the city of Ypsilanti. Their prosperity was his joy and hope. As a citizen, he was active and respected; as a neighbor, he was always helpful. He walks our streets and halls no more, but he did an honest piece of work in the world and is not forgotten.

Clyde R. Ford,
Department of Modern Languages

An Appreciation
Dr. Charles Oliver Hoyt

In appraising the work and influence of a teacher, there must be taken into account those intangible, but nevertheless, positive values of personality and spirit; as well as the nature of instruction and position. Indeed, the former are the essential factors that make a teacher great, and without which the work is merely academic. Great teaching is a matter of spiritual insight, and consists first, of skillful diagnosis of the conditions of those who are to be taught, and second, a living appreciation of the problems of life, and third, a warm and radiant personality that interprets and inspires. To be a great teacher is to be counted among those who are most serviceable to humanity. The great teacher lifts the torch that illuminates the dark places of ignorance and superstition and lights the way to physical and moral health and freedom. With a deep and searching understanding of human nature, a liberal and comprehensive philosophy of life, and a sympathetic and friendly attitude toward both. Dr. Charles O. Hoyt was one of these teachers.

SENIOR CLASS

Thus it is writ,—

And when Louis XIV called unto him Cadillac, he did give unto him a document. Now this document did cede a vast territory in the New World to the worthy Cadillac. And it came to pass that this land was called the Northwest Territory. Think ye that Cadillac dreameth that this wilderness would in time come to dim glory of France herself?

And it came to pass in ages thence that there grew up, in this same land of great lakes and mighty forests, a settlement called Ypsilanti. Now this same place came in time to be the seat of the great educational institution known unto men as the Michigan State Normal College. And "even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit" so Michigan State Normal College bringeth forth the Class of 1928.

An order was sent forth and there were called together the members of this class of 1928, and the date thereof was Wednesday, October 12. And those were chosen as leaders whose names are here writ:

President, William Underwood
Vice-President, Carl Pray, Jr.
Secretary, Evah Ostrander
Treasurer, Bernice Washburn

And behold at this same time it was decreed that he who had adviseth the multitude in the days of yore, Professor Graeme O'Geran, should again leadeth the flock.

And then as it happened there tooketh place several such gatherings and at each were decided questions of great import. But that ye may know one of these it followed that it must straightway be named. And behold it is: that all entereth into merry-making at the place called Starkweather, and it followeth that the spirit of mirthfulness and jollity waxed high.

Now it shall come to pass that there shall be a great ball, and the day thereof shall be the Saturday before the week which entereth in the caps and gowns. And those that shall be numbered of them shall garb themselves in finest raiment.

And also it shall come to pass that these same numbers there shall be carried, as symbols of their noble rank, canes and swagger sticks. Now be it known also that one of the last deeds of this illustrious group shall be that they shall bideth farewell to the buildings which have been their abode for years numbering into four.

And now be it straightway proclaimed that the scribe draweth to a close the record of the deeds of those of stately mien.

Thus it is finished!

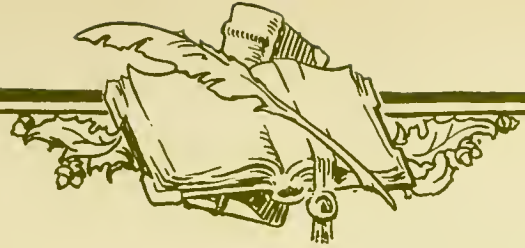
JUNIOR CLASS

In a sense college life is aluminous patches of colored light. Perhaps it is more correct to think of it as one thing, rather than small patches with distinct hard lines. Might we think of it as a "merging" of colored light from different sources. The Sophomore's contribution is a shallower color; the Senior's a hue of depth and solidness. Merging the two—deepening the one, mellowing the other—is the Romantic Ray of the Junior.

It is a tradition on the Normal Campus that, every year near the end of the winter term, a crowning social event be held. Memories of the J-Hop of 1927-28 recall that event of the past year, with its spirit of beauty, harmony and sociability. It is the distinct contribution of the Junior class.

College life, colored-light years. It is hoped that upon looking back from ever new points of vantage, the losing in the distance of 1927-28 will insure memories of a more enhancing beauty and a more abiding depth—because of the Junior Ray.



ONLY A JUNIOR

Only a Junior? Nay, speak like a king!
Let the proud name through the welkin ring,
Nothing of shame or disgrace to bear,
No other epithet half so fair!

Only a Junior? The world is yours,
Lowlands and highlands and moors.
You'll be the lord of all you survey
For you'll be a Senior ere many a day.

Only a Junior? A prince might long
For the fame that is yours in story and song;
Let the name sound out like a herald's cry
And raise the fair phrase to the very sky.

I am a Junior! No king nor czar
Ever more proud than the Juniors are
Of their name and their fame in this world of men
I am a Junior! It rings again!

I am a Junior! In days to be
That name from my youth, will come back to me,
And my heart will fill in the selfsame way
With pride for my class as it does today.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

An ancient legend tells us that the great warrior Ulysses bade farewell to his wife, turned his steps toward the field of conquest, and never looking back, disappeared from sight.

So it was with the class of '30. We left our work in the factories, restaurants and farms; we left our salesmen talks, our bumming trips, etc., and like Ulysses turned our steps to a field of conquest, in our case—M. N. S. C.

Upon our arrival we met upon the streets of our city, hosts of inferiors, upon whom we cast disdainful glances. They were strange of dress, shy at the inns, and wore on their heads miniature helmets. But they were spirited and did offer to tilt with us, which challenge was greedily accepted. But of that later.

The day came for a choosing of leaders. Our stalwart chief, "Lou" Brown, gave over his position to Wilbur Gunnerson. Further elections revealed: Florence Harwick, vice-president; Bruce Siders, secretary; Harriette Nellist, treasurer. Members of the Student Council: Florence McKenzie, Wesley Rea, Florence Harwick, Chester Gooding, and Vivian Boyce. "Bing" Brown remained out faculty patron.

Who of our Sophomore force can ever forget our tourney with the Frosh? On that afternoon we met, we worsted them in every event, and thus not only proved our evident superiority, but held our pennant secure. How often, after this subduing, did they submissively remove their meagre head-harness upon meeting us!

Exciting days followed. First came colorful "Gala Day." Our class was distinguished by the "M. S. N. C. '30" balloons which all of us carried. Following this we were rushed to Kalamazoo on the "Special." A victory was snatched. What a time! Gaiety going and more of it on the way back.

The Sophomore Class is proud of the members it has who have distinguished themselves in athletics. We find men from our ranks on our remarkable football team, on the college basket ball squad, the track team and in baseball.

Many other members have been actively engaged in other activities such as clubs, the band, interclass sports, choir, and debating teams. You may be sure we are a versatile crew.

During the winter a huge celebration was held. Orators of renown from far-off lands told us to be thankful for an institution which had passed its seventy-fifth birthday and was continually growing stronger. The Sophomores revealed their loyalty by attending the pageant, speeches, etc., in swarms. We do admit that there were several members from each of the other classes present—but we couldn't account for it.

Another event worthy of mention was the stirring appeal by our trusty advisor, Mr. Brown, that we solicit aid toward the erection of the dreamed-of Union Building. Toward this our class has given loyal support in the past, and our present policy is to continue the good work. Let's have it!

It is now only a matter of a few weeks till many of us will receive our Life Certificates, but it is to be hoped that few sell their services until we have, by two more years of diligent work, attained the prestige and honor that accompany the Degree.

IVY DAY

Ten years ago, acting on a suggestion made by the Registrar, there was instituted as a part of Commencement week, a festure named Ivy Day, which has consisted of a march about the campus by the sophomore girls, giving farewell speeches in front of the various college halls, and concluding with the planting of ivy on the old grey walls of the main building.

Originally the girls were gowned in white, but with the advent of the dignified cap and gown for graduation, these became the garb for the Ivy Day procession. In the first years ropes of ivy were carried, but as these soon lost their freshness, a change was made to bunting, in the beautiful college colors of green and white, carried on the shoulders.

After all the valedictories are concluded, the Ivy Day oration is delivered from the steps of the main building, then the ivy is planted by the vice-president of the Sophomore class who then passes the silver trowel along to the vice-president of the Freshman class, thus perpetuating the tradition. The conclusion is the singing of the Ivy Day song:

The ivy twines on castle walls,
And on the towers of fame,
Oh, Alma Mater, may it cling,
To thy grey walls for aye.
Its leaves will tell thee of our love,
When we are far away,
M. S. N. C., we bring to thee
This loving proof today.

A most impressive feature has been added recently in having in each building an orchestra, so that as the procession and guests approach, beautiful harmonies are heard floating from the windows.

Ivy Day is one of the outstanding features of Commencement week in impressiveness and beauty.

HOW NANNA-BIJOU MADE THE FIVE GREAT LAKES

When Nanna-Bijou was a little boy, there came to his father's wigwam an old medicine man, who built a conjuring tent near his home. Nanna-Bijou was filled with curiosity to see and do the things the old conjurer was doing. One day the old man said to Nanna-Bijou, if you will bring me the silver fox skin that is fastened on your father's wigwam, I will give you five little green stones, and you will be able to turn yourself into anything you wish to be, by dropping them one at a time into running water. Now the conjurer had made Nanna-Bijou believe that the voices he heard in the tent were the green stones talking, and Nanna-Bijou believed him. Near his father's wigwam was a large forest, and Nanna-Bijou had many times watched the rabbits playing through the woods, and he thought he would like to be a rabbit. That evening he brought the silver fox skin to the old conjurer, who immediately handed him a moose-skin bag with the five green stones in it. The next day he went in the wood where a small stream ran into the lake. There he threw a green stone into the water, and was immediately turned into a rabbit. The landscape was familiar, and after playing in the woods he found himself near his father's home. Here he played for a time, but it was not long before he began to wish that he was a wolf. The wolves at first thought he would not be able to keep up with them, but it was not long before he ran so fast he could take side trips and be back on the trail waiting for the pack. On one of these side trips he met the God of Water, and became so fascinated with his actions, that he would watch him for hours. The God of Water did not like this, and became angry at Nanna-Bijou for following him so closely. One morning Nanna-Bijou changed himself int o a black stump and lay upon the shore, where the God of Water came to bathe, and not seeing the stump he stubbed his toe against it, and becoming angry, he kicked the stump several times. This made Nanna-Bijou angry, and when the God of Water came out he struck and wounded him in the side. Then the God of Water leaped on Nanna-Bijou and tried to drown him. The clouds seemed to burst like a thunderbolt from the sky, and the gurgling of the waters and the roar of the waves bewildered Nanna-Bijou, and a panic seized him. Fleeing from his enemy, he felt the waves grasp the back of his head and deluge him. Suddenly his right arm was powerless, then a feeling like hot lead ran through his bosom, then his right leg had no feeling and his left leg was partially disabled; surely his right foot was gone and now his left, leaving only a portion of his left side and arm free. Seeing a tall cedar tree rising out of the water, he climbed into its branches, and as the animals were swimming for their lives, he saved many of them by pulling them into the tree with himself. As the water rose higher and higher, Nanna-Bijou commanded the tree to grow. After a time the water began to recede, and for seven days he waited, then he sent down a muskrat to see how deep the water was, but the muskrat came up dead. Then he sent a beaver, who came up with a bit of earth in its paw. Nanna-Bijou broke some twigs from the cedar tree and planted them, when instantly there came up trees and shrubs, making islands and woods. Then he started around to look these islands over, and to his horror found that his right eye had become an island. Afterwards it became known as Michipicoten Island, and his nose became Michipicoten Harbor. The back of his head was a large body of water, one of the largest lakes, with an entrance to the other lakes at Sault Ste. Marie Canal. He called it the "Hidden Sea," because he could not see it, but later it was called Lake Superior.

OFFICERS

George Mullich, President
George Stover, Vice-President
Jane Huey, Secretary
Valden Criger, Treasurer

Given: that the Freshman Class of 1927-1928 exists.

To prove: that it has pep and originality and that altogether it is the best Freshman Class that the campus of Michigan State Normal College ever saw.

One bright fall morning all the little Froshies gathered together and under the direction of Professor Olds chose the officers for the year, and capable officers they proved to be. With a great show of pep and enthusiasm the Froshies proclaimed George Mullich, from Toledo, the chief official and George Stover, from Detroit as his assistant. Jane Huey, from St. Johns, was chosen as keeper of the records while Valden Criger, from Pontiac, was elected the guardian of all their worldly riches.

At the annual Freshman-Sophomore fight all the big Freshies and all the little Freshies turned out in their little green caps to fight for the class with a surprising vim, while those who could not get into the struggle cheered and cheered. In spite of the fact that they lost, it is felt to be an indication of the wonderful class spirit of the Freshies.

Sometime in November occurred the first Freshman party which proved to be a huge success under the capable management of Ethel McGlade, assisted by Professor Olds, Mrs. Doris Chamberlin, and some other members of the class. The north gymnasium was decorated in school colors, green and white, and showed a great amount of labor and taste. The favors were whistles, paper caps and candy kisses. All entered into the games with zeal. At the party there was also an hour of dancing to the music of a three-piece orchestra.

On a Tuesday night in late May came the greatest event of a Freshies life on the campus; cap night, the traditional celebration of the campus, the night when dancing around a roaring bonfire the Freshie burned his green pot which he had cheerfully and assiduously worn all year. This event took place in Sleepy Hollow. Another great attraction of the evening was the barbecue artist from Lansing, who distributed free sandwiches to everyone. The Freshman, Sophomore and Junior Classes sponsored the event while the Seniors were their guests. An alumnus from out of town delivered the Cap Night Oration.

Cap Night was followed by "Moving Up Day." On this day, in assembly, the Freshman moved to Sophomore seats, the Sophomore moved to Junior seats, the Juniors moved to Senior seats and the Seniors moved to Freshman seats.

Therefore: The Freshman Class of 1927-1928 is the peppiest, most enthusiastic, most original Freshman Class that Michigan State Normal College ever saw.

SCHEDULE

Detroit Northern	0—Ypsilanti	34
Port Huron Junior College	0—Ypsilanti	39
Detroit City College Freshman	7—Ypsilanti	28
University of Detroit Freshman	6—Ypsilanti	32

A football team which runs up 133 points in four games to its opponents' 13, is a good team. And that is just the kind of team that represented Ypsi in the first season of play under the Freshman rule of the Michigan Collegiate Conference.

Heavy, fast and aggressive, the team worked like a machine in crushing its opponents. The squad was coached by "Teufer," and included a wealth of material which will give the varsity men real competition for positions on the 1928 squad. Daniels, (Captain) of Detroit Southwestern, was a crack halfback, and Stowell and McCarthy were close behind him.

The Freshman Cross Country team, taking the example of the Varsity, defeated Dearborn High, the Kalamazoo Frosh, placed second in the triangular meet with the Varsity and Detroit "Y" and placing in the Belle Isle run.

Western State Freshman	40—Ypsilanti	26

Winning five of their eight games on their schedule, the first "Frosh" team to play for Ypsi under the "three-year-rule" just instituted was a decided success. Several men of marked ability were uncovered during the season's play.

William Foy, who had returned to school after coaching in Dearborn for several years, handled the team tactfully and capably. He is in no small measure responsible for the season's success.

Under the supervision of Herbert Spade, star high jumper of the Varsity squad, a large number of men have been training regularly for the Frosh team. "Spadie" has developed a good team, many of whom should be valuable additions to the Varsity next year. Clif Boyd, Merlin Wolfe, and Ernie Johnson made up a distance trio hard to beat. John McCarthy in the dashes and pole vault, Brown and Joe in the dashes, Vanyo, Bowers, Reiman and Simpson in the weights, Burholt in the quarter and Kubian in the hurdle have turned in good performances.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The work of the Student Council this year has been largely of a preparatory nature. To form a constitution that would aid the future councils to act more efficiently and more easily, has been perhaps their greatest accomplishment. If the coming Student Councils will be able to serve the students to a better advantage the Council of 1927-1928 will count their efforts successful.

At the first meeting of the fall term the new Council was organized with Karl Scott, ex-president of the Men's Union and a member of the council for three years, as president. Carl E. Pray, Jr., serving his fourth year on the council, was elected vice-president and Bernice Dendel, a former member of the Western State Council, secretary.

The body of twenty-four members, though all were interested and co-operative, seemed too large to handle and one of the first acts of the Council was to make the attendance compulsory with the penalty of expulsion for those that missed more than two meetings. During the year only four members were expelled. In order to serve the student body more efficiently, boxes were placed in the corridors for recommendations and suggestions.

The President and Miss Elliott, vice-president of the Women's League, were sent to the University of Nebraska to attend the National Student's Federation of America Convention. Reports were given to the Council and League Cabinet on their return.

The Annual President's Banquet, held early in the winter term, introduced a new plan which the Council hopes may become a precedent. Six of the Senior leaders on the Campus introduced new hopes and plans for their organizations. Miss Wise spoke of the new plans for Freshmen and the vice-president of the University Student Council brought greetings and suggestions from Ann Arbor. The banquet was formal and about seventy-five students attended.

The amendment which will introduce the new Council, provides for a body of nine upper-classmen. The Presidents of the Senior and Junior classes, the presidents of the Women's League and Men's Union and the editor of the paper will be ex-officio members. Four members, two Seniors and two Juniors, will be elected by the entire student body at an election held the seventh week of the spring term. The new Council will organize and meet with the retiring Council at the last meeting of the spring term.

A point system for extra-curricular activities has been worked out to go into effect in the fall. Taking charge of the Class elections, preparing to grade the courses, and investigating conditions in the school and trying to better them has completed the work of the Student Council for 1927-28.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Reva Jarman, President
Evelyn Elliott, Vice-President
Olga Harem, Secretary
Vera Banister, Treasurer

In 1920, the Women's League was organized at Michigan State Normal College. The purpose of our League is to promote social and intellectual activities among the women, to make our standards the highest, and to bring the women of our college nto a closer co-operation that will result in a finer and happier college life for every woman on the campus. The growth of the League has been rapid and most successful. Each year has witnessed a stronger and better Women's League.

This past year the League has sponsored a Fall Frisk, a Freshman Frolic, a House Presidents' dinner and a Co-ed prom. Among the lecturers brought here were: Professor Henderson, of the University of Michigan; Mrs. Storey, national critic on dress; Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale, an English author, actress and lecturer. The neighborhood teas, begun last year, were carried on successfully throughout the year. The Get-Together Dinners again proved successful and enjoyable social events. A "Good Manners" campaign and also one on "How-to-Study" were carried on with much enthusiasm and benefit. A committee on the "Organization of Houses" was formed and the talks given, at various houses by student advisors, concerning rules and house problems, proved most beneficial.

MEN'S UNION

The Men's Union of the Michigan State Normal, under the leadership of Irvin Wolf, as president; Delmar Allman, as vice-president; David Brown, secretary; and Wilbur Gunnerson, treasurer, started the fall term with an unusual bright future in store for them.

Ypsilanti, having become a member of the new Michigan Collegiate Conference, and having a Freshman rule in effect for the first time, more men than ever before entered the school. The Union meetings were well attended and the business was transacted in a smooth manner.

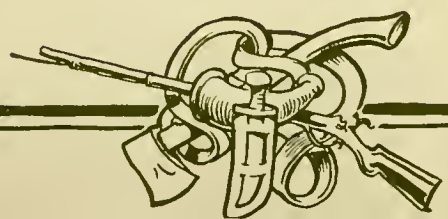
During the fall term Home-coming Day was celebrated on Saturday, October 29. Friday night before, a big pep meeting was held in Pease Auditorium with speeches from the faculty, alumni and students. Saturday morning about 1200 students assembled in front of Pease for the big parade, headed by the college band, College and American flags, green and white balloons and pom-poms; the best colored parade the College ever had wended its way through the principal streets of the city.

In the afternoon Ypsilanti defeated Mount Pleasant before an overflowing crowd. The game was spectacular and Ypsilanti was able to put over the lone touchdown in the last few minutes of play.

The Union sponsored a trip to Kalamazoo to witness the Western State game. Again 500 Ypsilanti supporters saw their team win 6-0, only after the stubborn opposition had been outplayed. This trip was financially successful and voted the best trip the Union had ever sponsored.

The class games were held in Sleepy Hollow with the annual barbecue held in the evening with speeches and the burying of the Traditional Hatchet.

At the beginning of the winter term the annual Men's Mixer was held in the gymnasium. "Gus" and "Will" were brought back for the occasion. "Doggie" and "Irv" presented a few vocal numbers, and the gym team made their first home appearance. Two fast exhibition bouts were staged, Herb Smith, the college heavyweight champion met Al Brown. Lyle Bouck, middle weight champion met "Johnny" White.



THE NORMAL COLLEGE NEWS

In the fall of 1927 the Normal College News started the last year of its quarter-century service to the students and faculty of the college. The News started as a monthly paper, but later it came out every fortnight. As the college grew in enrollment the paper became a weekly publication.

One of the recent additions to the paper, started in the fall of 1925, was the adoption of an athletic section. This has proved successful and is found to occur in many of the other campus publications throughout the country.

It is the policy of the Normal News to adhere to the journalistic principles as far as possible. The paper is ranked very highly among similar college publications in this matter. During the past year a style book was published to further this policy. The paper also attempts to give the students all the news on the campus.

During the past year the Normal News has supported many student enterprises. The Union Dollar Campaign was given support through the columns of the paper. The Kalamazoo trip was supported in the same manner. Likewise the "Good Manner" week was assisted by the efforts of the News.

Although it is an impossible feat to please everyone, it has been the policy of the paper during the past year to print all the material handed in to the office, with special effort to print student opinions.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Pi Chapter, Michigan State Normal College. Installed 1922

Kappa Delta Pi is an international honorary and professional fraternity in education, organized at the University of Illinois in 1909, and incorporated in 1911. The fraternity is composed of fifty local chapters, of over seven thousand members, and a Laureate Chapter having a membership of seventeen nationally known educators: Dr. W. W. Charters, Dr. E. P. Cubberly, Dr. John Dewey, Dr. Frank P. Graves, Dr. C. H. Judd, Dr. E. L. Thorndike, Dr. F. W. Ballou, Dr. L. M. Terman, Dr. Paul Monroe, Dr. W. C. Bagley, Dr. Henry Suzallo, Dr. J. E. Russell, Dr. P. H. Hanus, Dr. Susan M. Dorsey, Dr. E. A. Alderman, Dr. Helen Wooley, Dr. F. F. Bernard.

Pi Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi is the only Michigan Chapter and was installed in June, 1922, with a charter membership of eighteen. At present there are sixty students and alumni and twenty-five members of the faculty who claim active membership in the Chapter.

The international constitution states that:

"The high purpose of Kappa Delta Pi shall be to encourage in its members a higher degree of consecration to social service in the field of education. To this end it shall maintain the highest educational ideals and foster fellowship, scholarship and achievement in educational work." To carry out in some measure this purpose, there is published quarterly a magazine, The Kadelpian, which devotes itself to the activities of the various chapters and the publication of articles dealing with the problems of the teaching profession.

It is further stated in the constitution that the minimum qualifications for membership shall be: full junior standing, general scholarship of a grade in the upper quartile of the institution . . . . the indication that there will be continued interest in the field of education, and the manifestation of desirable social qualities.

The homes, costumes, buildings, customs and literature of the Scandinavian countries are some of the subjects which have helped to make very interesting meetings. Through the co-operation of members and patronesses the study has been instructive as well as enjoyable.

The Secondary Education Club of the Michigan State Normal College was organized in 1925 for the purpose of bringing together several times a year those students who are preparing to teach in the high schools of Michigan for a two-fold purpose, intellectual and social.

To carry out the former, speakers of note are brought who speak on the relation of various high school subjects to the high school. Dr. H. H. Ryan of the University of Michigan High School at Ann Arbor. one of the outstanding men in the field of Education, spoke on "Who are Dumbbells" showing some of the problems in the field today.

The social meetings which follow the business meetings are effective means of bringing together all secondary education people from all departments for the formation of new friendships in a social good time.

Each year a bulletin is sent to about two hundred superintendents of high schools throughout the state giving information regarding students who desire positions.

Membership is open to all students who are preparing to teach in Junior or Senior High Schools. The club has approximately one hundred members.

The Public School Music Club was organized a number of years ago, being officially organized in 1917, and today takes a worthy place among the older organizations on the campus. With the passing of each successive year the Club, true to tradition, has maintained its high standard of excellence and loyalty to the best interests of college life. Its membership includes the graduating class of each year in public school music education initiating the Sophomores during the spring term of the second year. It is also customary to meet the Freshmen early socially, thus creating a spirit of good fellowship among all classes of specializing students in the department.

Regular programs in the interest of public school music, interspersed with social evenings, are given bi-monthly by the students. Such topics as: Music Appreciation Contests, Symphony educational radio talks, the development of instrumental music in the schools, the children's concerts with the Symphony Orchestra, the Music Supervisors National Conference, and the "Who is Who" in the field of school music are discussed.

It is the purpose of the Club, through a common interest, to broaden the student's knowledge in the various phases of school music education, to stimulate a professional spirit, and to further social friendship among its members.

NORMAL COLLEGE CHOIR

"An annual delight in Orchestra Hall is the appearance of Frederick Alexander's Ypsilanti Normal Choir, which provided this high and seasonable experience before an excellent audience yesterday afternoon. Seasonable it was, for half its program dealt in music of the Christmas-tide. And 'high' the experience certainly was, also, for one may comb the land and fail to find a finer choral body than this one.

"It would be an appropriate thing for the State of Michigan to send this choir on a holiday tour, to demonstrate to other localities what may be accomplished in any school by adopting a standard of perfection. And by unearthing Frederick Alexander."—Detroit News, December 12, 1927.

HISTORY CLUB

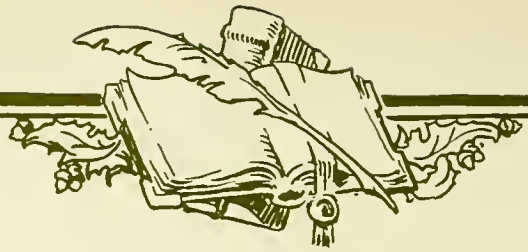
Ever since its organization by Professor Pray, the History Club has offered to major students in history an opportunity for social good-fellowship which has made it conspicuous among the clubs of the campus.

Its by-weekly meetings, varying in nature from talks on Mine Laying in the North Sea to frankfurter roasts and pom-pom-pull-away, promote a ready friendship which adds much to the life of the college student.

The Washington Banquet of the club has become a campus tradition as has the yearly trip on the Detroit River where spots of historic interest are visited. Last year a number of club members were a patt of the annual summer school excursion to Put-in-Bay.

To further the work of the club, early in the autumn of 1927 some meetings of upper classmen specializing students were held. The generous attendance at the "Dutch" dinner and address, which feature these gatherings, has justified this combination of social hour and serious papers, for History students and faculty.

Professing a special scholastic interest, our club yet remembers to be merry on occasion and to continue the spirit and tradition of the History Club in the new enterprise.



COMMERCIAL TEACHERS' CLUB

The C. T. C. is made up of
All Commercial students;
We work together while we're here
To learn to teach with prudence.

Our aim is one of service
Good fellowship we stress,
In our profession working
We help each one progress.

A common interest is maintained
By programs and good times,
Our speakers proved most interesting
And too, broadened our minds.

We hope this interest may last
For many a long year,
And prove a source of help and aid
And memory of times here.

Our social life has been great fun,
We had a weenie roast
And evening's entertainment
With Mr. Cleary host.

Many good times we enjoyed
At our business meetings,
We became acquainted then and
Friendships grew from greetings.

The greatest social gathering
Was our dance complete,
At the Masonic Temple held
And we enjoyed the treat.

Through the Aurora we do greet
All our former members;
To entering students C. T. C.
A friendly welcome tenders.

EUCLIDEAN SOCIETY

From determining the cost of a quatter of a pound of tea to measuring and weighing a star, mathematics enters into all business life. Someone has said that the study of mathematics is like climbing up a steep and craggy mountain; when once you reach the top, it fully recompenses yout trouble, by opening a fine, clear and extensive prospect. Such is the aim of mathematics in Michigan State Normal College, and the Euclidean Society has been organized to foster this aim among the students of mathematics.

The students have really missed the presence of Dr. Lyman, head of the department, who has been absent from school all term due to illness, but are glad to hear that he will be at the helm again next term.

The annual banquet which was held March fifteenth was a success to say the least, and now the members are looking foward to the picnic, which is to be held in the spring term, and will bring the club's activities for the year to a close.

The Laonian Dramatic Society was organized in 1913 for the purpose of the study of the drama. Five years was devoted to the reading and the study of plays. Because of the influence of the Little Theatre movement, the club soon began to stage plays for private and public performances.

In 1927 the club opened its membership to the men in the college.

Several original skits have been presented at the meetings during the past two terms. Mrs. Ida Hintz McKay gave an interesting talk on pageantry. The club presented The Clod by Lewis Beach for its members and their guests. Before the school year is finished the Laonians expect to present at least two evenings of plays for the pleasure of those who are interested in the drama.

The Minerva is a literary organization of college girls. It aims to promote literary interests, to encourage high scholarship, and to cultivate acquaintance and friendship among girls who have common interests.

During this year we have digressed somewhat from the study of former years and have concerned ourselves chiefly with a discussion of home furnishings; using such subjects as: period furniture, oriental rugs, old silver, pottery and tapestries. Reports have been prepared which were often illustrated either by pictures or concrete examples adding much to the interest and worthwhileness of our programs.

Teachers of the various training schools have acted as advisors in aiding the students to provide programs and entertainment for the meetings.

The biennial circus given by the club was the most realistic the college has seen with its atmosphere of sawdust, peanuts and striped canvas. New and novel acts having as the crowning feature "Bingo" Brown as ringmaster, made it a different circus with a truly professional air.

Lambda Tau Sigma was organized in 1924, the purpose of which is to create an interest in all phases of Special Education, to further the study of handicapped children, to promote goodwill and understanding between members of the faculty and the students.

Lambda Tau Sigma is a growing fraternity and has accomplished much during its short existence. An Alumni Chapter was organized in 1925 and a Beta Chapter in 1927.

All of the members look forward to the annual homecoming as one of the big events of the year.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association has completed another successful year on the campus. Through this organization much interest has been stimulated in athletics, dancing, health and general physical efficiency. Various organizations have been brought together in friendly rivalry and a large number of girls have been given the chance to participate in the activities.

The sports offered during the year have been tennis, field ball, speed ball, volley ball, basketball, handball, quoits, shuffle board, archery, swimming and gymnastics.

The green blanket with a W. A. A. emblem in the middle has been added to the former list of awards consisting of sweaters, chevrons, letters and emblems. A blanket may be earned with 3000 points, and two members of the association have earned one.

At the close of each year a silver cup is given to the sorority which has won the highest number of points, which, if returned for three successive years becomes a permanent trophy of that organization. Plaques are awarded to the winning class and club.

To date the competition is so close that it is impossible to judge the possible winners of these trophies. The following organizations have won the honors in preceding years:

Sorority Cup	Theta Lambda Sigma	Kappa Gamma Phi
Club Plaque	Campfire	Campfire
Class Plaque	Freshman	Freshman Class B

NIKE

An honorary athletic fraternity for the co-eds of the college has recently been organized at the Normal College. The society will be known as the Nike Athletic Council and will have a gold key as its insignia and will be an honorary society to which all women students of the college shall be eligible for membership.

The first step has been taken in electing officers and adopting a constitution under which the society is to function. Edith Cooper was elected president of the Nike Athletic Council, Lillian Faber, vice-president. Thelma Sonnenberg, secretary and Barbara Deuel, treasurer. Faculty members who have been asked to join the society are Dean Lydia I. Jones, Miss Marion Stowe, Miss Lucy Aiken, Miss Ruth Boughner and Miss Donnabel Keys. The patroness of the society will be Mrs. Doris Chamberlin.

The object of the society will be the encouragement of moral, physical and mental development and training among college students.

The physical requirements for membership that must be passed before one may become a member of the Nike organization, make the society a strictly honorary one. A scholastic requirement setting a standard of B for one year, is the first that is listed fot the candidates for membership.

Other requirements are teaching ability of A for one term, posture grade of B for one year, be able to do folk and natural dancing and clogging, track, apparatus and stunts, swimming, badge testing, must earn a minimum of 100 points by minor sports in one year, must have been on teams playing two out of three major sports each year. A Women's Athletic Association letter may be substituted for any one requirement in Nike, except Academic.

The ten girls who have drawn up the constitution and have become charter members of the organization are: Edith Cooper, Port Huron; Lillian Faber, Detroit; Thelma Sonnenberg, Mount Clemens; Barbara Deuel, Elsie; Gladys Denninger, Monroe; Marguerite Malcolm, Wyandotte; Irene Marshall, Owosso; Doris Marlatt, Detroit; Dorothy Schwartz, Detroit; Gladys Lewis, Detroit.

VARSITY CLUB

The Varsity Club, composed of letter men of all of the various sports on the campus, is organized for the promotion of social and athletic functions throughout the year. The outstanding accomplishments so far this year have been the all-college boxing and wrestling tournaments, which not only drew a large audience, but also brought forth some men of unusual ability in this line.

The Campus Order of Eastern Star was organized several years ago and ever since its inception has served as a fraternal bond linking the student groups with its loyal sponsors, Ypsilanti Chapter, Order of Easter Star, No. 119. Here, indeed, has been a real home for Eastern Star students, and it has proven a justification for the existence of the club.

As a campus organization the club holds regular business meetings, and its department chairmen function according to their requirements. To perpetuate constructive work, a constitution and by-laws are being drafted which will govern the duties of club officers and chairmen and regulate requirements for membership into the club. Contact with Grand Chapter of Michigan, O. E. S. is made through co-ordinating with State Education Committee which grants loans to qualified student members. The president is authorized to function with the state group.

Traditions thus far include its "open house" at beginning of each quarter, Christmas Pilgrimage to Eastern Star Villa at Adrian, Exemplification of Degrees for Ypsilanti Chapter in January, and the club's Spring Party. In addition to many social affairs, the officers and star-points performed the ceremony of initiation for Ann Arbor Chapter, No. 22 on the sixteenth of March.

THE WESLEYAN GUILD

Ever since 1923 the Wesleyan Guild, Methodist student organization, has been in existence. Its purpose is that of uniting the Methodist students in a bond of friendliness and fellowship and of furnishing opportunities to students for social and spiritual development. Through the various departments of the organization is carried on a well rounded program of activities. These departments are headed by student officers who form the cabinet and have regular meetings throughout the year.

This organization is most active on Sundays when we have our religious education classes in the Sunday School, our social or "Friendly" hour on Sunday afternoon and our student Devotional service at six-thirty. The Sunday School classes offer a wide choice of courses under the teaching of Dr. M. S. Pittman, Professor Bryan Heise, Professor E. H. Waugh, Miss Alice Roscoe, Miss Opal Seeber and Dr. Arnold Brown. These courses have been given with the idea of training Sunday School teachers for the communities throughout the state. The Student Friendly has furnished fun and fellowship on Sunday afternoons when one is apt to get "the blues" in one's room.

Several special projects have been carried on this year in co-operation with the other church groups, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. One was the Church Affiliation Week November 12-20, when students were especially invited to unite with the Church. Another project was the Student Fellowship Conference which was held on the campus February 4, 5, 6.

The Student Movement is a fellowship of students who are united in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God and in the determination to have a part in making such life possible for all people. The Movement seeks to understand Jesus with the purpose of following the truth as found in Him. It unites in its fellowship all women in the colleges of the United States who wish to form associations with this purpose and to enter the Y. W. C. A. of the United States and the World's Student Christian Federation.

Among 300,000 women students in 900 educational institutions in the United States, there are about 600 Associations, including more than one third of the whole student body of women in their membership. The largest proportion of members is made up of undergraduates; white and Negro, American Indians in Government schools, and foreign students. A smaller, but highly important group are the graduate students, faculty women, and alumnae.

The local association is a part of this National Organization and tries to carry out the ideals and purposes of the larger organization.

"The significance of the Women's Christian Student Movement grows upon me. I think it is one of the most searching and powerful social and religious forces of America. It is doing pioneer work in methods of social education. It is profoundly creative in intention and fact."

The Young Men's Christian Association is an active influence in the lives of many men in M. S. N. C. This influence will reach into a wider sphere and be more challenging each year if the determination of the new officers can be realized.

Every Wednesday evening a group of students—sometimes small, sometimes large—meets in the "Y" room. There very earnest discussions on some of our present day problems are held as the men try to think through the situation to a proper Christian attitude. These meetings, however, are only a small part of our work.

The foundation for the work of this year was laid last spring when the newly elected cabinet joined in the State Officers' Training Conference which was held here. Then in June four members went to the Regional Conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin. (Oh, memories of inspiring talks, clear, challenging thinking, moonlit waters!)

Prominent among the activities of the Y. M. C. A. this year was the three-day conference with Sherwood Eddy. Through co-operation with other student groups forming the Student Religious Council we aided in sending delegates to the Student Volunteer Convention in Detroit. Also in holding a week-end Fellowship Conference on the campus, and in presenting International Night program. A very intensive and interesting week-end deputation trip was carried on at Northville with the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. co-operating.

We are especially fortunate in having a suite of rooms in the basement of the Administration Building. The large room is a popular place for study, gossip and recreation. The adjoining kitchen makes it possible to have the fellowship of supper meetings.

The "Y. M." has a definite contribution to make to the lives of the men. Its purpose is to engender open, creative thinking and conclusion on present day problems.

BAPTIST STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The activities of the association have been varied during the past year. The aim is to help the students form lasting friendships and supply the third or spiritual side of the student life. At the B. Y. P. U. on Sunday evenings many interesting topics have been presented, both by the students and outside speakers.

Throughout the year special parties have been planned by the social chairman, such as the New Year's Party, Pat and Biddy Party, to help the whole group become better acquainted and enjoy a good time together.

Perhaps the most enjoyed time of all is the Friendly Hour at Ruth Campbell's on Sunday evening where real lasting friendships are formed. Here you come in closer contact with the group than at any other time.

The students find that much of the greater joys in life come from service. Therefore, through the Social Service and Deputation Teams the students find many opportunities to serve.

The past year has been one of rich experiences in which all have willingly worked together in a fine group spirit.

LOCAL PANHELLENIC

The local Panhellenic is composed of a faculty member, or patroness, two upper-class women, and one lower-class woman from each sorority. The offices of Panhellenic are filled by the presidents in annual sequence. The Panhellenic organization acts upon rushing, pledging, initiation and the standard of scholarship required of sorority members. It considers standards in social customs and the desirable regulation of social service.

The year has been a banner year for the fraternity. Debate, athletics, dramatics, and all phases of college activities have found representatives in Kappa Phi Alpha. Seeking to hold sacred the feeling of brotherhood among the members, the fraternity has been the source of true inspiration towards the ideal for which it was first organized—namely, the molding of real gentlemen.

Oratory-Debate

FREDERICK B. McKAY
Director of Public Speaking

PUBLIC SPEAKING

The student activities in platform speaking are now considered as established under the general supervision of the campus honor forensic society, Pi Kappa Delta. Its forensic committee has immediate direction of all public speaking contests. The officers are: Bernice Dendel, president; James Perdue, vice-president; Evelyn Elliott, women's vice-president; Carl Brablec, forensic secretary; Elmen Winkelman, fraternity secretary; together with Professor McKay, faculty representative, and patron of the society. The committee arranges for the numerous local contests and plans the schedule of intercollege debates and oratory.

Some of last year's speaking events occurred too late to appear in the 1927 AURORA. In the state constitution contest, our orator, Bernice A. Dendel, speaking upon the subject, "The Constitution and the Citizen," was awarded first place and $75.00. In the regional contest held in Detroit, May 17, she was awarded third place. In the Provincial Conference of Pi Kappa Delta held at Michigan State College on April 13 and 14, our orators won first and second places, our extemporaneous speaker second, our men's debate team third and our women's team first. The eleventh annual Freshman speaking contest resulted in the honors going to Charles N. Hill and Evelyn Elliott.

In oratory for the past year, the college contest was held on December 1, and Junior H. Adams, senior, and Alleen Gates, freshman, were awarded the honors. On the withdrawal of Mr. Adams from college at the close of the term, Ira D. Kingsley senior, acceptably represented the college. Both made a good showing in the state contest at Albion College, March 2. Miss Gates spoke upon the subject, "Wilson's Challenge" and made a strong plea for world peace through clear thinking and aggressive faith. She was awarded third place among seven speakers. Mr. Kingsley's oration was entitled "Things That Matter." It was a strong presentation of the need for recognizing the elements of life that are most significant. He was given fourth place by the judges.

Debating has taken its usual swing with a somewhat greater amplitude due to the addition of Professor Harry T. Wood to the speech faculty. He is in charge of the men's activities. Their squad consists of about fifteen men and the Women's eight. These students are carrying forward the debate schedule, and as this article is being prepared are arranging, under the auspices of Pi Kappa Delta, to enter teams in the National Convention held at Heidelberg, Baldwin-Wallace and Otterbein Colleges. The first men's question was: "Our present Latin-American policy should be condemned," and the first women's: "It is unwise that so many people go to college." The second question for each is: "The United States should cease to protect, by force of arms, capital invested in foreign lands, except after a formal declaration of war." The season went forward as follows:

WILSON'S CHALLENGE

April second, nineteen seventeen, was a day, common enough as spring days go, in Washington, except that the atmosphere seemed oppressive with the momentous events about to be launched. On Capitol Hill sat the war congress, called into extraordinary session by President Wilson, that he might communicate to it the message he had so long withheld. The apprehensive faces of the members indicated that they were about to receive a tremendous pronouncement . . . . Germany, whose motive has never been definitely ascertained, had issued a notice to all countries of neutral character, that, from a fixed date forward, all ships of whatever nature, plying seas within the German-made restricted zone, would be considered as prey for their submarines and would therefore, without further challenge, be sent to the bottom whenever possible. This ultimatum, over our repeated protests, made it clear that but one course remained. The president definitely expressed his mind in those unmistakable words: "We enter this war only where we are clearly forced to it, because there are no other means of defending our rights." At no time did he indicate that he sought the fortunes of war. In fact, his aim was, as he said, "to fight for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples."

He withheld his decision until compelled to act, not from any lack of patriotic pride but because his high regard for the defense of right left him nothing else to do. . . . .

Once it was decided to defend our rights, he threw the energies of his great mind, and the entire weight of the nation into the conflict. . . . . .

He carried on, still pursuing his convictions, in post-war activity . . . . . He seemed to have gloriously achieved his greatest aim of placing the nations upon a practical basis of permanent peace. Fired with enthusiasm and buoyed up by the encouragement of the statesmen of the great powers, he returned to present his proposition to his own countrymen. On the result of his efforts we need not comment.. . .

He went down to defeat, but not to disgrace. He failed, but it was a glorious failure, the failure of one who falls, holding high the torch, and challenging the world to carry on for the cause of peace. My friends, that challenge is my message to day.

Two qualities stand out in Wilson's great ideal—clear thinking and aggressive faith. We cannot pay a higher tribute to him than to emulate his example both in thinking and in faith. Now consider how clear thinking is the first essential of world peace. What is the central cause of war? . . . . . Commercial competition. The eighteen hundred millions who now inhabit our globe must be fed, clothed and sheltered. The wherewith to satisfy these material needs come from every corner of the earth. But who creates wants? The public, you and I. From Minneapolis comes our flour, from New York and Chicago our clothes, from Iowa corn, from Pennsylvania coal. But listen—tea from China, toys from Japan, coffee from Brazil, oil from Mexico, rubber from Africa, mahogany from Nicaragua. In international trade lies the danger. Follow the potential peril in the present rubber trade. English business, by a stroke of foresight, secures control of the market. The demand of our public is insistent. The source of supply is restricted. Friction, retaliation, open hostility, armed conflict are all easy possibilities. But such a condition could never arise if the public everywhere were less insistent upon having rubber tires, gasoline, coffee, binder twine; more willing to submit to the existing conditions and not to force markets in foreign countries as many nations are now doing. . . . . My friends, is it not all important that we should think clearly about the conditions that provoke war?

But clear thinking is not enough; we must, with Wilson, exercise an aggressive faith. What do I mean? You may call my illustration idealistic if you will, but it holds a deep truth which the world should some day accept. It is a spectacular refutation of the slogan that armies and navies keep the peace of the world. The Quakers settled among Indians who had a reputation for treachery and violence. In the surrounding colonies, men always went armed and made common practice of mistreating the red men. Border warfare and massacre were always imminent. What was the Quaker policy and what its results? Without arms, without forts, and seemingly unafraid, their women and children unprotected, they went their way depending upon such strange weapons as kindness, neighborliness, justice in trade and treaties, faith in the red man's desire for peace. And the Indians, soon recognizing this, in turn manifested a steadily growing faith in the Quaker. During the years of "the Holy Experiment," years of strife and massacre, not a Quaker was in any way molested. How can that historic fact be explained except by saying that he possessed an aggressive faith, a faith that prompted him to discard weapons of warfare and, further than that, a faith that expressed itself in relations of open honesty, of strict justice, of sincere friendship.

Is it too much to say that so far as the nations are willing to apply these ideals, so far can they achieve peace? Does it not show that faith of that sort in fellow-men, really applied, would accomplish more than threats, fortifications, armies and navies? . . . . . Now, manifestly, America is not ready to accept such an ideal; but I do believe that at least part of the eighty-two cents of every dollar of the tax-payer's money, now used for military projects, should be added to the meager eighteen cents used for the promotion of peace interests. Not while peace gets eighteen cents and war eighty-two is world peace possible.

Clear thinking and aggressive faith, then, may be our practical tribute to Wilson. If we follow his example we shall hold the torch high and light the way to a greater future. We shall make it clear that sacred idealism is never spent in vain. May his spirit remain with us until the great thing which he wrote with his life's blood in characters deep and burning is an accomplished fact, materialized by those who know his purposes and are willing to carry on his work down through the years, until the world finds itself resting on the substantial rock of peace, a peace not of the moment, not of the day, nor even of the years, but a peace towering, glorious, eternal!

IRA KINGSLEY

THINGS THAT MATTER

The growth of human society is characterized by a movement from the simple to the complex. The life of primitive man was independent, self-centered, isolated. With the advent of the tribe appeared divisions of labor and the rudiments of a social order. Invention, education, government, religion, have added to life's complexity until today no man lives to himself. The independence of primitive man has given way to interdependence, in which the individual barters the products he creates by his own efforts for those created through the efforts of his fellows. We wear ready-made clothes, eat ready-made foods, indulge in ready-made amusements, and acquire ready-made knowledge. Each has become a tiny cell in the great organism of human society.

Think how distance has been annihilated. By airplane, New York and Paris are only thirty-four hours apart. Any radio station on earth is less than one-fifteenth of a second from any other. Think how the remotest races have been brought face to face. Modern transportation has built its highways into the far corners of the earth. . . .

But such complexity brings with it problems of corresponding significance. Primitive man was concerned only with himself. The fate of modern man, whether he will or not, is inseparably linked with that of his fellows. Let me illustrate. Machinery and organization have reduced the working day almost half. How shall man spend the other half? How use his leisure time? This problem never assumed such importance as it has today. Shall leisure mean cheap movies, petting parties, gambling, dissipation—those enervating influences that mean but repeating the sad history of Rome; or shall it mean relaxation, wholesome sport, inspiring friendship, constructive thinking—those invigorating forces that lead to a greater future? Another problem that concern us is the racial prospect of our human stock. The co-operation demanded by modern civilization has hindered the operation of that law which allows only the strongest to survive. Instead of being destroyed by nature, the weaklings have been protected by society, until today, large as their number is, they are reproducing their kind twice as fast as those who are superior. . . . If this ebbing of racial vitality remains unchecked, we shall, in due time, find ourselves unable to overcome the dead weight of this millstone around our necks, and we shall be lost in the depths of degeneration. Still another problem fraught with significance. How guarantee to the 1800 million inhabitants of our globe freedom from strife, and the right to live their common life happily together? Long ago came the realization that international peace is for the best interests of mankind. Yet think of it! Eighty-two per cent of our national revenue goes to pay for war, past and future, and, even now we face the probability of eight hundred millions more being invested in engines of destruction. . . . .

My friends, need I illustrate further? My brief reference to the problems of our human stock, of leisure time, of war, suggests the setting of the twentieth century. We who are to live our lives in its midst, we who are being touched by the influence of the college, must ask ourselves how we ought to expend out physical, our intellectual, our spiritual talents. There comes to us the choice between wasting upon the trivialities, upon the commonplace, or investing them in the things that matter.

What are the things that matter? Do you remember how the youthful Hercules was given a choice between two roads, one of which was pleasant and easy, but which led to no higher ground, while the other, although a hard, rocky climb, led to the azure peaks of Olympus? To all of us comes a similar choice.

To every man there openeth
A high way and a low
And every man decideth
Which way his soul shall go.

And which road does America take? The desire to eat, drink and be merry—to enjoy the pleasures of the day, is all too often stronger than the urge to work for the good of humanity. Even the Romans overestimated the importance of wines, perfumes, foods, slaves and other forms of indulgence, so we in America set too high values on such things as fine clothes, jewelry, night clubs and high-priced automobiles. Is it not true when we realize that America every year spends a billion dollars for races and pleasure resorts, one and seven-tenths billions for tobacco and no less than ten billions for luxuries of various sorts, as against two billions for public school education? Already intoxicated by our jazz way of living, we quench our ever-mounting thirst by drinking greater and greater quantities. And as this craving daily increases, the jazz activities assume greater and greater importance and our senses grow more and more dulled to the future and our responsibility. . . . . My friends, the future of our civilization demands that the educated classes take the initiative and dedicate themselves to the things that matter.

There are two channels through which we may devote our energies. One of these is individual determination. Again and again men have visualized the things that ought to be and have brought them about through their own unaided efforts. Every step in the advancement of mankind has been possible because some dared to battle, single-handed, against great obstacles. There is still opportunity for men like Columbus, Galileo, Steinmetz and Livingstone. Do not such lives point out that, however limited our talents, however small our world, we too may change the course of events through our contributions.

How little we realize the value of our heritage. A pyramid was built, stone upon stone, during a lifetime. A Gothic cathedral represents the work of a century. But our culture represents numerous centuries, countless lifetimes. The things we take for granted are things for which innumerable men and women have given their efforts, their money, their opportunities, their very lives. Year after year, century after century, our forefathers put forth their greatest efforts in order that the present civilization might be enjoyed by you and me. Shall we not then, be challenged, to the preservation of our heritage? . . . Shall we not so use our lives, that when the curtain falls on the final scenes of our earthly existence, the question, "Why did you live?" shall be answered, "For the Things that Matter!"

OUR COACHES

When a swimming team is developed in college circles, a division of the laurels of victory, of the so-called "credit" for the season's success is immediately undertaken by the student body. The members of the squad, the captains, the college spirit behind the team—all come in for their share of the glory. Too often, the real man behind the guns—the coach—is mentioned in a casual way or given no thought at all. But if the season's showing has been a poor one, the great proportion of blame is shifted on his unlucky shoulders. The general theme upon the subject seems to be: "Now, if I had been the coach—".

Too often the fact is overlooked that the coach cannot play the game for his men; he can but teach them to play the game squarely, cleanly, and with all their might. Once he has achieved this, his all and his best is given. His position is a delicate and a difficult one. He must imbue his men with the spirit to win if possible; he must give them the most modern means of winning that are at his disposal, in the form of formations, and methods of attack and defense. But greater than these, he must imbue them with the spirit of fair play, of losing gracefully, of winning generously, and to implant such basic fundamentals of sportsmanship as these in his men; his own personality must embody these qualities.

Ypsilanti's athletic teams have long been inculcated with such a spirit, and it is in no small measure due to our coaches, who have been at once the inspiration and the admiration of their men, They have won the regard of the student body because of their friendliness, their sincerity and their oneness of purpose—to produce men of the highest type physically, mentally and morally. Ypsilanti is proud of them.

OUR CAPTAINS

When the two captains step out on the field just before the kickoff, to call the toss deciding goals, they are being sized up in every way by the rival crowd. Why are they such objects of attention? Why are there ominous shaking of heads or noddings of approval and satisfaction, as the case may be? Because the captain is at that time the representative, and the only one, of his college. He is the spokesman; through him the college talks. Is he a good sport, a generous opponent? Then the college he represents is a fine and worthy rival. Is he sullen, morose, tactless—a "crab"? Then the college, as judged through him must be a rather poor sort of place. Such representation holds true not only in football, but also in all sports in which a recognized captain is elected. He is the chief representative of his college, and it is mainly through his attitude and actions that the spirit of his college is exhibited.

With these facts in mind let us attempt to fully appreciate the fine impressions that Ypsi captains have left wherever they have appeared in contests with other colleges. Their representation of Ypsi has been continually one of clean, fair play, and the upholding of all the finet elements of sportsmanship. They have been at all times an inspiration to their men. Whether losing or winning, they gave their best for the "Green and White." and have set examples of leadership which it well behooves their successors to follow. To "Beef" Matheson, "Bill" Crouch, "Del" Allman, "Bill" Bailey, and "Bud" Brown, therefore let us extend our appreciation. They have been gentlemen first, last and always.

Students of Ypsi have you realized that we had a great football team last fall? Not only a good one but a truly great one. It was one which has been the envy of rival schools; it was one of which we may well be proud. It carried the "Green and White" triumphantly through a hard schedule, not once allowing it to be soiled by defeat, and it never faltered in its onward rush to Ypsi's first Michian Collegiate Conference Championship.

Why was it a great team? On first thought, because it won a championship. We may say it was a great team because it was undefeated, but schedules are sometimes so arranged that teams can win all their games and yet not be great teams, a thing of which Ypsi has never and will never be accused. Ypsi won the championship because it was all "brains," and all "team-work" and all "fight." Fit these terms to last fall's squad and you will see how perfectly they are suited to it.

From a large number of returns of last year's squad and a wealth of new material "Rynie" molded a quick-thinking, speedy and flexible machine which developed more and more power as the season progressed.

ORCHESIS

To really Dance means to really live

Orchesis is a society which meets on Wednesday nights, giving opportunity beyond class work for those students who have the interest to go farther into the dance. The society devotes itself to original creative work, and from this work informal recitals and larger programs are given in which the students present their own dances. There are several Orchesis groups at different Universities and colleges, and although the society was just started here the interest is keen and some excellent creative work is being accomplished.

JOKES

In Ypsi

They were seated at an ice cream table (call it that for the present) in the Betsy Ross—just he and she. While he hurriedly examined the contents of an artistically decorated menu card, she dreamed of happier hours that they had spent together in Ypsi. And now, in a few days, she was to leave dear old M. S. N. C.—perhaps forever. Could it be possible that her college days were over? "Ah," mused she, "tempus fugit!"

"I don't mind if I try one myself," replied her very obliging partner, discarding his menu card. "Louis, fix us up two tempus fugits—with nuts."

Bill Crouch: "You haven't said anything about my new necktie."
Pat Harwick: "Well, it speaks for itself."

Teacher: "Now, Jimmy, what happened when the cow jumped over the moon?"
Jimmy: "Somebody got an idea for vanishing cream."—Life.

Dust to Dust

Take it from us—the Gold Dust Twins know all the dirt.

(Evidently before "Good Manners Week")—Overheard in a restaurant—Soup.

She was only a truck farmer's daughter, but she sure knew her vegetables.

Ira: "By the way 'Dog' did you know that Ross Gordon just signed up for a big job this summer?"
Dog: "Zat so? Glad to hear it. What is it?"
Ira: "Sprinkling dust on bottles of old Scotch down in Detroit."

"Do the children understand the bedtime stories?"
"I dunno, last night my little girl went to sleep very nicely on a hash recipe."
—Louisiana Courier.

M. S. N. C. Professor: "Well, Mr. Schlene, how do you Arm of Honor men like your new house?"
Ed. Schlene: "Very well, thank you, Professor."
Professor: "And how do you find your meals now?"
Ed. Schlene: "Usually with a magnifying glass."

First Pig: "I never sausage heat."
Second Pig: "I'm nearly bacon."—Nancy Log.

Frosh, at Cornell: "Are they very strict at Cornell?"
Soph., same place: "Are they? Well, when a man dies during a lecture they prop him up in the seat until the end of the hour."—Cornell Widow.

In Ypsi?

An alumna: "Have you in mind some good rushees for the sorority?"
Prominent Sorority Member: "Oh yes! Two fur coats, one Buick Sedan, one Chrysler sport roadster and three beautiful sisters."

Professor in Psychology: "Burbank, what do you associate with the word mutton?"
Paul Burbank: "Jeff."

J. Shriner: "I expect to graduate from college in four years."
A fellow sufferer: "Don't try to kid me, big boy, you can't do it."
J. Shriner: "Yes I can, ol' thing. You see I'm only taking a two-year course."
Four out of five have pyorrhea—the fifth now wears a plate.—Bison.

Ray Kremple: "What's the matter, Bennett? You look perplexed?"
Harry Bennett: "I was just wondering what Lon Chaney did when he was all made up with a pretty nose, and then discovered that he had to blow it."

Those Schedule Keepers!

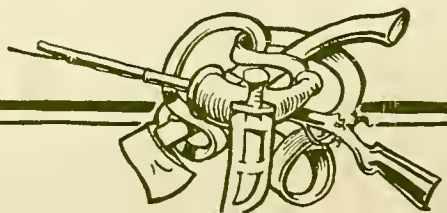
Professor: "It's about time you showed up, Brown. You've been skipping entirely too many classes lately. Where were you Thursday morning?"
Stewart Brown—(noted for his excellent memory ! ! ! ? ? ?): "Now, let me see, Professor, Thursday morning—why, by my schedule that was Wednesday night—sorry, but I must have been in bed."

Another Guest!

Ed. Fox: "One of my ancestors came over on the Mayflower."
Lynn Rohrer: "Zat so? How long's he gonna stay?"

Was It or Was It Not?

Two Sophs, upon meeting a Frosh acquaintance in the corridor exclaimed: "Why hi there, ol' thing! Just had an awful scare, thought you were dead."
"Dead?" replied the excited Frosh. "How come?"
"Well," said one of the superiors, "we were racing to school, and a few miles out of Ypsi we passed a wrecked car. Beside the car there was a fellow all stretched out—probably dead. Looked like you—fact is, we thought it was you."
"Zat so?" inquired the Frosh. "What kind of a car did he have?"
"Ford Sedan."
"How big was the fellow?"
" 'bout your size."
"Have on a dark coat?"
"Yes."
"Have on a gray hat?"
"No, didn't have any hat when we saw him."
"Well," said the Frosh, greatly relieved, "twasn't me."



She was only a garbage collector's daughter, but she was not to be sniffed at —Gargoyle.

The bachelor's definition of a flirt; a flirt is a species of human carrot that has an irresistible fascination for two-legged donkeys.

Mr. Drink: "What kind of a school is your son attending?"
Mr. Blink: "A very fashionable institution—one where you develop the mind without using it."

Sophomore—impulsively: "Have you a minute to spare?"
Frosh: "Then tell me all you know."

After the "Bawl was Over" Mary got a diamond ring.

"Talk about being cautious. Say, that guy's so cautious that he always looks in both directions before crossing a one-way street."

She was only a junk collector's daughrer—and she sure looked it.

"Why do you wear smoked glasses?"
"So I'll think it is going to rain and have a good excuse for cutting classes."

We have the straw hats with us part of the time, and the felt hats most of the time, but the "high hats" remain forever.

He: "This dining room table goes back to Louis XIV."
She: "That's nothing, my whole sitting room set goes back to Sears, Roebuck on the fifteenth.—Wisconsin Octopus.

At the Game

Gatekeeper: "How'd you get in here?"
Collegian: "On my friend's ticket."
Gatekeeper: "And where's your friend?"
Collegian: "Oh, he's at home looking for his ticket."—Washington and Lee Mink.

"What kind of poetry do you prefer?"
"Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns."

He: "I can eat everything else they serve at these Ypsi restaurants, but I do object to young chicken soup!"
She: "Young chicken soup? What do you mean?"
He: "Water that eggs have been boiled in."

Might Be Catching

"Sorry old man, I was late, but I have been setting a trap for my wife."
"Good heavens! What do you expect?"
"A mouse."

A bashful young girl from the country went into a local store carrying three chickens. She inquired the price of chickens at the same time putting them on the counter.

"Will they lay there?" asked the clerk, who did not know the chickens' legs were tied.

She bit her handkerchief in embarrassment a moment and said: "No sir, they're roosters."

Red Shaughnessy: "Really now what would you do if you were a man?"
Charlotte: "What would you?"

About the dumbest collegian I ever knew was the one who tried to turn a 1915 flivver in on a Cadillac.

The advertisement reader believes that the world's two greatest menaces are dandruff and halitosis.

First Soldier: "Sit down; you're rocking the boat."
George Washington: "Can't."
First Soldier: "Why?"
George Washington: "My pants are too tight."
So they painted him standing up.—Ohio State Sun Dial.

AUTOGRAPHS

This little room we've been livin' in
For full two terms or more,
Has held four hearts a-strewin'
To keep things on the go.

But soon we shall be a-leavin',
This little room behind.
But the memory of joys spent with you, dear
Shall always be cherished; their mine!

Hell Helen, I ain't no poet, but there's my sentiments. I sincerely hope you receive the success you righty deserve.

Sincerely,
Melvina Albee

Dear Helen

When you are teaching don't ask your pupils if any one can tell what causes trees to become petrified - Some one might say "the wind makes them rock". Ich liebe dich!

Henrietta Brown Campbell

May the greatest success and happiness come to you in your teaching and in life.

Sincerely,

Hazel Davis

Dear Helen.

Will you ever forget the perfect paper we got in Education 209 once? just once. Well I wish you luck on your "lesson plans" and here's hoping you don't have to write any. I bet you won't for your own good.

May you never forget me when you are peeling potatoes.
